

■ The project

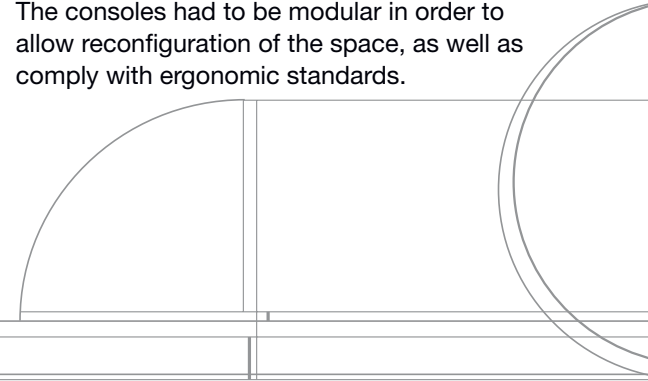

Reorganization of the Quebec City police station has allowed complete relocation of all activities of its 911 call centre.

The project's goal was to design and install 27 consoles, equipped with screens and computers, for call taking dispatchers and supervisors. The mandate included the creation of specialized furniture and technical accessories.

The project objective was to design modern, state-of-the-art, ergonomic work consoles to insure optimal work spaces for the emergency department.

The consoles had to be modular in order to allow reconfiguration of the space, as well as comply with ergonomic standards.
